ABOUT CISTRI

Cistri represents a new type of consultancy, applying its independence and multi-disciplinary advice to some of the most complex and nuanced urban issues facing governments, developers, investors, NGOs and communities in the region. We act for clients who are making the places we live in and reshaping the way we live.

We collaborate with our clients, to deliver fresh thinking and independent advice leveraging our multi-disciplinary expertise including economics, research, urban planning and design.

Cities are our passion. Making sure they are economically successful helps make them socially and culturally successful – and wonderful places for people to enjoy.

Whether it's a competitive strategy, investment decision or a policy outcome, at Cistri we connect you to a better outcome, every time – all supported by evidence-based solutions.

The team is led by a seasoned cohort of directors based in Singapore, with extensive experience, supporting clients throughout Asia Pacific, Greater China, the Middle East and beyond.

Cistri is supported by its parent company, with over 600 professionals located across Urbis Australia. We have one goal – to shape cities and communities for a better future.
